Worktrack

Helping local people find employment or training towards employment.

Working with employers to satisfy their requirements for staff and labour by providing suitably qualified candidates and relevant training.

Sandi McGeoch is Worktrack's Business Link and works with employers to identify future recruitment needs and ways to meet requirements.

Worktrack is always keen to work with employers to provide training opportunities to enable the upskilling of suitable candidates for permanent and temporary employment.

Sandi is based at Worktrack's office at:

PARC

PARC is the joint venture company formed by the City of Edinburgh Council and the EDI Group to deliver the long-term strategic regeneration of Craigmillar.

The company is responsible for creating over 3,000 new homes, a new secondary school and three new primary schools, a public library, community learning facilities and a revitalised town centre.

In delivering this PARC will work with contractors and the relevant support agencies to create employment opportunities and business opportunities for Craigmillar.

The Construction Academy

Operating in Edinburgh and the Lothians, the Academy aims to:

- Provide customised pre-recruitment training to enable local people to access employment opportunities in the construction industry
- Promote the sector and its career opportunities
- Make it easier for people to access job opportunities in the sector
- Work with employers to encourage the development of staff in the sector

Garry Lee is The Construction Academy Manager and works with the industry to ensure that the services offered by the Academy meet industry needs.
